1 & 2 Peter by LMG

L.M. Grant's commentaries are easy to understand and brief - perfect for today's fast-paced lifestyle. Yet at the same time, there is a depth and Christ-centeredness that are not always found in more wordy expositions. The author describes the contents of the First Epistle to Peter:

"Peter's ministry then deals with the government of the Father in administration this kingdom, which is the sphere of Christian profession in the world today. Furthermore he stresses the spiritual and moral responsibilities of believers as subject to such government. Of course, we have a yet more blessed relationship than this, as members of the body of Christ, the church; but Paul writes of this, not Peter, who was specially the apostle to the Jews"

May all who read this commentary drink deeply of its contents and grow in the "true grace of God in which you stand" (1 Peter 5:12).
