

Sales price $2.99

Salesprice with discount

Description

Tradition or truth?

Practice of the past or an abiding principle? May we please ourselves, or are we bound to obey the injunction of the Scriptures?

How long is long? When is the covering necessary? What about long-haired men? Does it really matter with God?

Avoiding human opinion, the author presents, by exposition of relevant Scriptures, some answers to current questions on this sensitive subject.

J. BOYD NICHOLSON SR.

Born July 14, 1922 in Scotland, he came to North America as a pilot with the Royal Air Force, and eventually settled in Canada. His written and spoken ministry extended world-wide through radio, conference ministry, and the printed page.

Mr. Nicholson was editor of Counsel magazine and contributor to numerous publications. He and his wife, Bernice, were married 50 years in 1997 and lived in St. Catharines, Ontario with three children. He passed into glory Nov. 12, 2000.

40 pages - Booklet - Author: J. B. Nicholson